* Comment. The pin-point location of the airfield cannot be determined since the suburb of Vedka is not entered on available maps of Stalino. The field is possibly identical with the airfield on the southern edge of Stalino which was reported in 1947. In 1947 another source reported that a field was on the southwestern edge of the town. Therefore, the existence of the reported airfield is believed possible. For location of airfield, see Annex.

 Comment. The type of air unit stationed at the field cannot be determined from the scanty information.

 Comment. The observations are believed to be correct. Two airfields are certainly located near Stalino, one on the northwestern edge and the other south of the Stalino-Makeyevka (48°02'N/37°58'E) road. A parachute unit seems to be stationed at the latter field.
